

Fine Art Prints

Giclee fine art prints are produced on museum-grade fine art paper using specialized large-format inkjet printers that have 8 to 12 pigment-based ink channels to reproduce high-resolution images that resist fading for over 100 years. One inch border is added around the artwork to provide space for signing, matting, or framing.

Prints are shipped rolled in a tube or in flat boxes if they are matted or framed. It is highly recommended to bring rolled prints to a framer for professional unrolling to prevent buckling.

If you prefer framed prints, frames are available in three colors: black, walnut and oak. These solid wood modern ½ inch wide frames are best suited for prints, since they don't detract from the artwork they display. The frames are fitted with plexiglass to provide shatter-free protection for your print during shipping and lower glare effect on the wall.
